Free.rarÂ .Maximizing power during exercise in athletes by controlling eccentric muscle activity. Eccentric muscle activity contributes significantly to the work performed during a bout of eccentric exercise (60 repetitions, 2.0 eccentric actions, 1.0 concentric action, $s(-1) - 4.0 s(-1)$).

Twenty-eight male (27 +/- 4 years) and ten female (21 +/- 2 years) subjects performed a maximal eccentric exercise test with (eccentric) and without (concentric) a prior concentric contraction using a dynamometer. Subjects also performed the test with and without a prior concentric contraction. Physiological measures included: a) oxygen consumption, b) metabolic power, c) muscle activity, d) tension, and e) blood flow. Using a concentric contraction as a warm-up promoted a greater work output than when concentric activity was absent

Who's on the move? Here's how Denver's leading companies and startups are shaking up the city Denver's commercial real estate community was not supposed to be newsworthy. Recent projections show the city is experiencing low unemployment rates, a thriving population, and many millennials leaving the Denver metro area. But amidst all the news of Denver's economic growth, its economy is being reshaped by a confluence of forces. For starters, several companies and startups are moving into and out of the city. About 67 companies have moved into Denver this year, according to CoStar's latest Real Estate Information Services. If the trend continues, the number of new businesses could hit nearly 200 by the end of the year. Whether people think of Denver as “Silicon Forest” or a “Silicon Prairie,” the city is e79caf774b
