
Lost Artifacts: Time Machine Trainer (Latest)

You are a stalwart defender of humanity, repelling the rampaging menace of the Monster Clans from a far-flung corner of the world. With a strict adherence to the code of ethics, you single-handedly chase down the monsters and send them back to their own planet. If you really want to earn some extra cash, you can always take on bounty hunting jobs, and cleanse your world of evil by killing the monsters for whoever's paying you. * The story takes place in the far-flung province of Astransia, a relatively peaceful corner of civilization. But when the start-up factory in your town gets some unwelcome visitors, things will get grim. * Encounters with other characters are handled with a Combat Zero turn-based system, with encounters taking place in random locations around town. The monsters' strategy will vary based on your actions, and sometimes you'll find yourself having to use stealth and other tactical considerations to complete your quest. * Combat is focused around the weapon type and the wielder, so by using Stealth, you'll force the monster to attack you instead of moving into range for a melee attack. Running away will cause monsters to chase you, but they can be lured back with grenades, so don't be surprised if you find yourself leading a mob of monsters on a nice long chase.

Key Features • Tactical RPG

combat We've updated the structure of the combat system to feature customizable weapons, with further upgrades available as you improve your character and equip them. Make sure you're well prepared for the battle at hand - move tactically and snipe the enemy with ranged weapons to pin them down so they can't get into melee range. • Monster hunting You're the last line of defence against creatures that threaten the peace of the peaceful province of Astransia. With a determined and vigilant disposition, you'll help stave off the menace of the monstrous incursions. •

Sidequests The world of Lethal RPG is brimming with interesting quests to accomplish, but don't lose track of those that will give you a boost to your stats and skill tree. You'll want to make sure you level up before you hit 60. •

What's new:

; Part 21 Chapter Twenty Eight: Sky Land; The Blows of From Coldness to Warmth Inside the palace, Ai Tong now stood inside the chamber next to the king, smiling at the king, giving him the signature salute of three bows - once on each spot, and one final one on top of his head. "Dear Great God, Your Majesty, it's already been more than five years; I beg you to reconsider your decision." Ai Tong pleaded with the king, "Even after hearing the most unfavourable of the rumors about the state of the world, your majesty should have waited. I understand that there may be many uncertainties about the future, but I do not know if ever in the history of this world there was truly a worse situation; even if any artifacts could be magically produced, the only way I know to strengthen the tools is to forge them with a respectable imagination. A certain military power is all that is needed today, if there were no other magical artifact, it would probably be enough to throw a shield of protection around the kingdom, so that I believe it won't come to the worst... Is there any way you could stay on until I get everyone ready?" "There were a lot of other things that could impact my decision, such as your crimes for sleeping with my sister, but I can still try one more time. A wise king should always choose the same path for greater success, if it turns out that the people are about to revolt, then the greatest believer in the free will, isn't it me?" the king replied to him and smiled, "I'll send you to Zhou; will you be alright?" "It won't be that hard for me to control all the affairs in Zhou; it won't be that hard to have the various officials believe that I'm your successor; I can even put you under a disguise if necessary, so that no one will know you are not there. A retired king never wants to remain in the palace; it's better for him to do like this, then to be a thorn in the provincial's hands... It won't come to that; are you certain?" the king asked him. Ai Tong accepted it with a nod, "I am." "Then you go; tell Zhou of my decision to withdraw. If you cannot handle the affairs there, ask for my second brother, Fu Xiao, to take my place. I'll leave the rest to you. After I keep

You have been born in the Year of the Ram and have grown up in that innocent age between childhood and adolescence. You don't remember anything about your family, but your teacher tells you that your mother had three sons and that she had passed away. You don't feel at ease with other people. As a result, you usually wear an indifferent expression, even when you're happy. Because you don't have a hobby, you spend your time watching T.V. or playing video games. The strength of the current environment is such that you almost can't live without a smartphone. You spend almost the whole day with your smartphone in your hand; when you do something useful, you'll also have a smartphone to record it. "No matter what, girls wear clothes with the same style," your teacher says. "And the outfits that a girl wears, the better for her." "I want to change my outfit style," you declare. When you start dressing up for fun, you get a pair of Inuyasha shoes and start playing the girl who's in love with the protagonist with Kikyuu... _____

I don't know what this is, but I'm curious too; the girl you're playing in this game - I'm assuming that this is Kikyou - I've been using her in any number of RPG's that I make, so I'm not the fan of her nor is the fact that your main character looks so much like her. And I think you took a good step by not specifying her abilities.
